Summary

I have recently retired from a twenty plus year career in law enforcement and aviation. I had considered continuing with aviation in retirement but have decided it is time for a change. I am a highly motivated self starter and quick learner. I handle responsibility, stress and deadlines effectively and efficiently. I have always been a top performer in past positions and have always maintained professional relationships with past supervisors and co-workers. I look forward to new challenges and responsibilities and completing any and all training required.
